ICS presents the "TOD series" replica, the AEG form of the classic rifle designed by IMI (Israel Military Industries). This classic rifle combines the durability and ergonomics of the AK-74 series with the precision of the M16 rifle. The TOD was issued as the standard service rifle to the Israel Defense Forces, and became a world famous design because of its excellent durability and accuracy after it proved itself in the Lebanon war in 1982. IMI also expanded the Galil series to include several other models such as the Galil ARM, a light supporting weapon variant.

Accurate Steel Dewaxing Process

Steel parts including the folding stock bracket, front and rear sights, quick-release bipod and more are all made with dewax casting method which gives the surface a rugged outward appearance, and the impression of a weapon that is capable of dealing with the brutal conditions in combats.

Gas Tube

The standard gas tube is made of steel just like the real weapon, and is included in both AR/ARM variants. The standard steel gas tube can be replaced to the MG-34 aluminum M1913 rail gas tube for installing tactical gears in the TOD series.

Quick Release Folding Bipod

ICS TOD ARM comes a quick release bipod as standard, which can be conveniently folded and fixed under the solid wood handguard. The bipod also simulates two ingenious functions from the real weapon: it can be used as a wire cutter or a bottle opener. Only the ICS TOD retains both the appearance and functions of the real rifles while slightly scaled down to reduce the burden on players.

Israel Regular Army Hebrew Engraving

The TOD rifle, having been the standard issue service rifle for the IDF, is faithfully replicated with Hebrew markings and serial numbers.

Steel Upper
Receiver Cover

ICS utilizes a similar production process to that of the real firearm. The upper receiver cover is made of stamped steel.

Hi-Cap Magazine

The 400 rounds high capacity magazine, made of a durable stamped steel construction, utilizes a strong spring to ensure efficient winding whilst loading BBs. The steel locking lug is highly durable with extreme anti-wear properties.

Pistol Grip

The silhouette of the TOD pistol grip is a faithful replication of that of the real firearm.

Realistic
Select Lever

Both the main fire selector lever on the right side of the receiver, along with the secondary selector on the left side mounted near the grip act simultaneously like the real firearm. This design feature allows the shooter to switch the fire mode effortlessly without changing his firing posture.

Folding Stock

The aluminum folding stock allows the shooter to significantly minimise the overall length of the rifle, making the weapon much easier to stow away whilst riding in a vehicle, or in close quarters scenarios.

H-UP Adjustment

Simply one pull on the charging handle to reveal the H-UP, and you can dial the setting accordingly.
